OUR COMMUNITY NOW PROFILE

We have summarised below some of the main facts and figures from the Community Profile - a report produced by the Steering Group to give a picture of the community as it is now.

TILlicouLTRY, COALSNAUGHTON & DEVONSIDE COMMUNITY PROFILE SUMMARY

LOCATION

Tillicoutry, Coalsnaughton and Devonside form the TCD Community Council area. Tillicoutry is one of the four "Hillfoots Villages" of Clackmannanshire lying on the A91 nine miles to the east of Stirling at the foot of the massive and striking Ochil Hills. Coalsnaughton is a smaller village just to the south of Tillicoutry. Coalsnaughton leads onto to Devonside by the Crankie Brae and the Glen then into Moss Road in Tillicoutry.

POPULATION

Tillicoutry and Devonside together have a population of just over 5,000 (5,120 according to 2011 Census), and Coalsnaughton has a population of around 850 (848 in 2011). The overall population of the Tillicoutry, Coalsnaughton and Devonside area decreased by 4.8% between 2001 and 2011, whereas the population of Clackmannanshire increased by 7% over the same period. Over the last 15 years, there has been a sharp increase in the percentage of people aged over 64 and a corresponding decrease in the percentage of younger adult population and children.

HOUSING & DEVELOPMENT

The majority of homes (64%) in Tillicoutry and Devonside are owner occupied, with 21% being rented from the Council and the remainder either privately rented or other social housing. It is a slightly different story in Coalsnaughton with around 54% being owned, and around 36% being rented from the Council.

Over 80 new homes have been built on the development site at the Glen between Coalsnaughton and Devonside, and the final phase has been started by Hadden Construction. Hazeldene Developments are currently carrying out public consultation on development of the site at Coalsnaughton North, which could be for a further 240 houses.

Sites within Tillicoutry itself are relatively small, with Lower Mill Street identified for development of 74 houses, and Upper Mill Street for 50 houses. Neither site is being actively developed at present.

EMPLOYMENT

The most recent Census figures, (2011) show that Tillicoutry has 5% unemployment, compared to 7.3% in Coalsnaughton and 5.7% for Clackmannanshire as a whole.

Over the period 2001 – 2011, the percentage of retired people in Tillicoutry rose by 6%, compared to an increase of just 2% for Clackmannanshire and 1% for Scotland.

LOCAL ECONOMY

Tillicoutry was a thriving mill town in the 18th century. The burn running through the glen provided a source of water for the textile industry, initially for washing and dyeing wool and then for powering mills. By 1870 there were 12 mills employing over 2000 people. Textile mills and coal mining remained the biggest employers until the first half of the 20th century.

With good access to motorways, a regular bus service and a train station at Alloa, the area is now popular with commuters.

Sterling Furniture & Sterling Mills Factory Outlets attract shoppers from all over Central Scotland. There used to be tourist information at the Outlets but this closed several years ago.

Tillicoutry High Street has a range of independent traders, cafes and pubs as well as a Co-operative, and a Premier store incorporating the post office. The one remaining bank is under threat of closure.

Although there is no formal business association, a local business Blades Hairdresser started a group called Tilly Ladies, which organised fundraising in 2016, with support from local businesses and townspeople for Christmas lights in Tillicoutry High Street.

Coalsnaughton also has 2 local shops one of which contains the post office. The Burns Club is a busy social venue for members.

PRE-SCHOOL & CHILDCARE

A toddler group meets twice a week at the Ben Cleuch Centre, and a toddler group meets weekly at the Congregational Church. There is no pre-school nursery or out of school care in Tillicoutry or Coalsnaughton, other than childminders.

EDUCATION

Tillicoutry and Coalsnaughton both have primary schools, including nursery classes.

Most secondary age children attend Alva Academy.

HEALTH & CARE

Tillicoultry Medical Centre provides GP and medical services. There are two pharmacies in Tillicoultry. Forth Valley Royal Hospital is within 30 minutes' drive, and there is a regular hospital bus service at the moment. Trust Housing (formerly Kirk Care) have properties on the High Street for elderly people and those requiring sheltered accommodation.

TRANSPORT

There is a good, regular bus service to Alloa, Stirling and neighbouring towns and villages. The train station at Alloa, 4 miles away, connects to major cities.

ENVIRONMENT & ACCESS

Tillicoultry lies at the foot of the Ochils, with ready access to this majestic expanse of hill walking including Ben Cleuch. Tillicoultry Glen is the main point of access, and had been closed for several years due to the path being unsafe, but has recently been improved and re-opened.

The Devon Way and the Hillfoots Way are both waymarked routes, one along the River Devon and the other through the villages and hills.

The Ochils Landscape Partnership was a £2.2million funded project which was completed in 2014, having done much to improve access and understanding of the area. Its successor body EPIC (Environmental Projects in Clackmannanshire) is in the process of getting established.

Gartmorn Dam Country Park, managed by Clackmannanshire Council, is easily reached on foot from Coalsnaughton and offers walking, cycling, horseriding and fishing. Fishing is also available on the River Devon, managed by the River Devon Angling Association.

HERITAGE

Tillicoultry, Devonside and Coalsnaughton – like all the Hillfoots villages – have a wealth of heritage to discover. However, little of it is interpreted or celebrated locally.

The Clock Tower in Tillicoultry is an iconic heritage feature, owned by Clackmannanshire Council. The "Tic-Toc" volunteer group are campaigning and fundraising to restore the Clock Tower.

There is an active twinning link formed with the town of Crevecoeur le Grand in France in 2010, facilitated by the Tillycoeur Twinning Association.

What people said:

The natural beauty of its location at the foot of the Ochil hills.

I like the old railway line being tarmacked as it gives all weather and disabled access.

I like the hills, woods, Gartmorn Dam, fields, bike and footpaths.

It's very friendly and a sense of community.

I love that there are groups and clubs you can go to, Community Week is brilliant.

The hard work that many locals do to help others and add to the area.

It is within walking distance to Sterling Mills.

Tillicoultry has a great Co-op – best in the area.

Local businesses – Tilly Tearoom and butchers.

The location of Tillicoultry and its transport ties make for easy access to Scotland's two major cities for employment and retail.

Good access to other parts of Scotland, if you have a car.

Times and frequency of buses are good.

I like that Tillicoultry Primary school is a good school with approachable staff.

The Coalsnaughton village hall is an asset in the community.

An excellent community Centre, and the staff in the library are really helpful.

Excellent recycling provided by Clacks Council.

Reasonable amenities – school, golf club and bowling club.

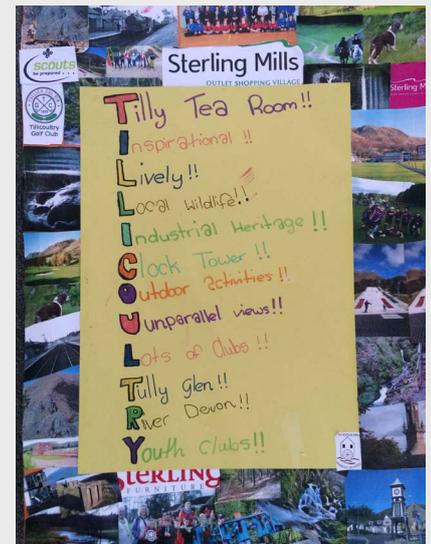

Good range of sports activities are catered for.

Devonvale hall is an excellent resource, but too expensive for charities to hire.

I love the history of the village and how the Hillfoots villages came to be.

The town is not overbuilt and still retains its village feel.

The appearance of the village with its landmark clock tower.

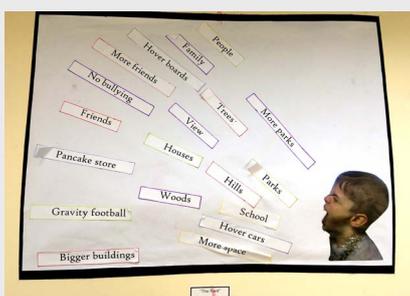

OUR COMMUNITY NOW DISLIKES

...and what they were not so keen on!

COMMUNITY VIEWS SURVEY

DISLIKES	% OF RESPONSES
Community safety/anti-social behaviour	42%
Dirty, neglected environment	39%
Lack of recreation and youth facilities	19%
Appearance of High Street	17%
Roads & traffic	10%
Access to services	8%

What people said:

Small number of young neds who maraud around causing damage to property.

I avoid the shop area esp. at weekends as there is a menacing feel to it.

Dog mess in streets and parks, broken glass around parks and school.
Rubbish not being lifted because other people are contaminating the bins.
I don't like that the council has let all our halls and the clock fall into disrepair.

The park isn't very good

- not a lot to play on and unslidiest slide I have ever seen.

Lack of public sports facilities - Tillicoultry Primary used to have basketball nets which were removed and never replaced.

Not enough for the younger generation to do
- there isn't a proper community centre.

Tillicoultry High Street is a bit sad and does not have a lively feeling.
It is drab and not as attractive as other similar sized communities.

We don't do flowers like Bridge of Allan!

Traffic in the side streets, Hill Street in particular gets the worst of it.
Traffic system in the side streets running off the High Street is terrible.

The roads and pavements are also badly neglected on Hawthorn where I live.

Cost of bus fares is extortionate.
Limited before and after school clubs.

Lacking in community information

- it is difficult for new residents to feel part of the community.

Individuals who complain about the town but do nothing to help make it better.

OUR VISION FOR THE FUTURE OF TILlicOUNTRY, COALSNAUGHTON & DEVONside IN 20 YEARS

This statement has been prepared to summarise the main aspirations for the future as expressed by local people and organisations

Outdoor recreation capital of the Hillfoots, a hub for walking and cycling

Clean and green, making the most of our environmental and cultural assets

Quality High Street experience – bustling with shops, cafés and people

Caring, safe and enterprising - a good place for families

A vibrant, active community, that works together to get things done

“Other communities will look at us as an example of how to create a town to be proud of”

MAIN STRATEGIES AND PRIORITIES

These are the main strategies and priorities the community will work towards achieving over the next 5 year, in partnership with public agencies and other supporters

THEME 1: TOWN AND VILLAGE ENVIRONMENT

Respondents in the survey, and at the event, felt that the look and ambiance of both Tillicoultry and Coalsnaughton should be improved. There is concern about increasing vandalism and anti-social behaviour, including littering, dog fouling and the general “run down” appearance of the High Street. However, there are also positive opportunities to build on – the success of the Christmas Lights, the planned capital improvements by Clackmannanshire Council, and the potential to brighten up the area with business and community involvement. There is also great support for the work of the Tic-Toc group in campaigning to restore the historic Clock Tower.

Main priorities:

- Reduce vandalism and anti-social behaviour
- Environmental enhancements
- Restore and promote heritage features

THEME 2: RECREATION AND YOUTH

Tillicoultry is home to Hillfoots Rugby Football Club, based at the edge of the town. With support from Clackmannanshire Council, the club is pursuing a major ambition to develop a community sports hub in Tillicoultry. This would benefit all sporting and community interests. There are also aspirations to provide more varied activities and facilities for young people, and improve parks and play areas for children. This was also borne out by the results of the Hillfoots-wide youth research commissioned by the EDF Burnfoot Hill community fund, completed in January 2017.

Main priorities:

- Create a Sports Hub facility
- Expand youth facilities and activities
- Improve parks and play areas

THEME 3: ROADS, TRAFFIC & TRANSPORT

Traffic management in Tillicoultry is a big issue, particularly at school drop off and pick up times. The side streets leading to the school become congested and dangerous for vehicles and pedestrians. Traffic issues in Devonside and Coalsnaughton are more related to speeding traffic.

Further development of safe walking and cycling, and improving public transport would take the pressure off the roads and make services more accessible to all.

Main priorities:

- Traffic management & roads
- Develop safe walking and cycling routes
- Public transport improvements

THEME 4: TOURISM & LOCAL ECONOMY

The area has huge potential to attract and retain visitors, boosting the local economy, by developing and promoting the connections to Sterling Mills, the Mill Glen, Gartmorn Dam and the Ochils, and making the most of natural and historic assets. Facilities and activities would need to be further improved, the town centre re-vamped and more promotion of opportunities.

Main priorities:

- Develop and promote the Mill Glen
- Improve facilities, activities and information for visitors
- Regenerate the High Street

THEME 5: COMMUNITY FACILITIES AND ACTIVITIES

Having a range of community facilities is valued in the communities, but they all have to be sustained and supported. This means holding more activities and events in the community facilities, and encouraging and supporting more volunteers to do all this. There is already great appreciation of the efforts that local groups and individuals put in to improving the community, but having more information and communication about what is on offer would help to encourage more support.

Main priorities:

- Support and sustain community halls and centres
- More community events and activities for all ages
- Encourage and support volunteering
- Improve community information and communication

THEME 6: A SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITY

There is a real appetite to explore the potential for a renewable energy scheme that would not only provide energy, but also an income source for the communities, beyond the existing Burnfoot Hill wind farm benefit fund. Linked to this – protecting and enhancing green space, developing community gardens and allotments would make the community more sustainable.

Main priorities:

- Community renewable energy
- Improve energy efficiency
- Green spaces, community gardens and allotments

GETTING INVOLVED AND MAKING IT HAPPEN

This Community Action Plan has been developed by the whole community and is for the whole community. We hope that many people will get involved in making it happen. There was a terrific response to the community consultation and we intend to build on this positivity in the community and create more opportunities for people to get involved.

THE COMMUNITY COUNCIL WILL TAKE A LEADERSHIP AND CO-ORDINATION ROLE

The priorities in the Community Action Plan will be reported at each Community Council meeting, and Action Groups will be given support.

EXISTING GROUPS WILL BE STRENGTHENED

and supported to pursue their priority actions – Hillfoots Rugby Football club, Tic-Toc Group, Ochil Community Garden, hall committees, etc.

NEW ACTION GROUPS WILL BE SET UP to focus on specific priorities that do not have a “natural home”. These will include:

- Environment Action Group
- Local Economy Action Group
- Mill Glen Action Group
- Play Areas Action Group
- Communications Action Group

KEEPING THE ACTION PLAN UNDER REVIEW

Community Council meetings will regularly report on progress with all aspects of the Action Plan. Everyone in the community is welcome to attend monthly CC meetings.

We will also involve the community in an annual review of the Community Action Plan, re-setting priorities and actions.
